Moraga's budget: scraping the bottom of the barrel

By Sophie Braccini

he fiscal year 2017-18 will be a stressful budget cycle for the town of Moraga, town staff mem-

One may think of the millions for road and bridge repair that the town has to fund, but the challenge is not even there, according to the town's Administrative Services Director Amy Cunningham. Simply put, Moraga's financial trend points unique challenges, we need your to a budget in the red, with general fund expenses growing faster than revenues.

The town council was asked to find extra savings and they did so by cutting several relatively small a minimal service government that expense items such as the contributions to the senior van program and to the Moraga Chamber of Commerce, and cutting down on published meeting minutes.

Cunningham warned the council at a special budget meeting on May 17 that labor negotiations are not over yet and payroll payments represent 64 percent of town's expense. Cunningham stated that cutting positions would impact service levels and was out of the picture this year. The council did not challenge her assumption.

A car parked for one week at Saint Mary's College had a window smashed and property removed. The Sticky Fingers criminal left a couple prints; no suspects yet.

To explain the increased expenses the director gave the example of a 10 percent cost jump for health benefits, and a forecast of 10 percent increase for workers compensation, and explained that the 4 percent of property tax revenue or 1.5 percent sales tax revenue increases would not help.

"As we are facing a number of input," Cunningham said, adding the impact on the level of service residents appreciate and expect.

Moraga was funded in 1974 as may have been adequate for the second half of the 20th century. It does not well equip the little suburb for 21st century requirements and expectations. The town's public work director, Edric Kwan, noted that since Proposition 13, Moraga gets the smallest percentage of property tax in the county; the Moraga-Orinda Fire District's share is four times what the town gets.

In her presentation Cunningham reminded the council that the town's asset replacement fund is completely depleted, and this year and asset replacement will be delayed. Not replacing computers or police cars may not impact services in the short term but can have serious consequences later on.

Line by line the council members looked at relatively small ticket items to reduce or eliminate expense in the hope to keep the budget balanced.

The Spirit Van that drives sethat the objective was to minimize niors to appointments was one of the first on the chopping block, as the council members noted that private contributions could replace the $9,000 the town has historically given to that program. Council member Jeanette Fritzky asked that this item be reviewed at midyear and adjusted if possible. The $9,000 contribution to the chamber of commerce was also eliminated.

> Council member Kymberleigh Korpus asked that the 5 percent of proposed cut to the building and ground maintenance budgetary item as well as janitorial services be increased to 20 percent, saving $8,000 instead of $2,000. After weighing the impact of having to ask town employees to pick up again, some needed maintenance trash and replace toilet paper, and to cut the contract with Futures Explored (a nonprofit supporting adults with disabilities), the council agreed to a 20 percent cut. It spared the Hacienda de las Flores from the budgetary slimming program.

OPEN HOUSE SUNDAY, JUNE 4 FROM 1-4PM

The council decided not to touch the $5,000 it gives to support the Sunday hours at the library, its support of the Pear and Wine Festival, nor the hiring of summer interns, but decided to cut the cost of transcribing and posting complete public meetings minutes. Only action minutes will be posted, unless the matter pertains to land use. The council felt that since the meetings are now televised and archived, government transparency is upheld. The saving is $13,000.

Other savings include changing the way of distributing the Town Crier to save on postage and reducing the number of professional associations staff belongs to.

The total saving amounts to about $83,000. Cunningham will present the 2017-18 budget to the council in June.

Mayor Onoda wants to appoint Moraga's own poet laureate

By Sophie Braccini

uddenly there is plethora of popcorn poetry for kids, workprojects in Lamorinda to appoint a poet laureate.

The Lamorinda Arts Council (LAC) has proposed to appoint a laureate who would write poems for events and conduct poetry to have its own laureate, as part of an exclusive partnership with Saint Mary's College.

What is a poet laureate? According to the dictionary, it is "a poet appointed to, or regarded unofficially as holding, an honorary representative position in a particular country, region, or group." Juan Felipe Herrera is the current U.S. poet laureate.

LAC's idea emerged a few years back as a way to design a program that would promote the literary arts locally. "We have a lot of initiatives to promote visual and performing arts," says LAC's president Lawrence Kohl. "Our project is to include poetry in major functions, and also to be a focal point to encourage community involvement in poetry, shops, so poetry can become a part of the community." He adds that it is also a cool way to celebrate a local poet, as Lamorinda houses several published poets.

Onoda has a different idea. education. But Moraga Mayor As she explained it during the Teresa Onoda wants the town Arts in Public Spaces Committee meeting on May 9, what she wants is an exclusive partnership between Moraga and Saint Mary College to appoint a poet laureate. In the mayor's vision, the laureate would not be compensated, but would be given an office at the Hacienda de las Flores for writing. At that time she was not sure if the person chosen would be a student or a professor, or what the extent of their function would be.

> At the meeting Onoda made it clear that this was an important personal project of hers. She told the art committee that Mary's College, had told her that he wanted this Moraga-Saint Mary's project to come to frui-

A member of LAC who had come to the May 9 meeting explained that the objective was to have Moraga be part of the project. Lafayette and Orinda have already approved it and LAC has raised funds to give the laureate a stipend. LAC proposed to have Saint Mary's be a part of the review committee that would choose the laureate.

But the mayor would not hear it. For her Saint Mary's College is in Moraga, it makes the town special and should not be shared with Orinda and Lafayette, she

The arts council followed the mayor's lead. Just one member abstained indicating that looking into a Lamorinda partnership would make sense since there does not seem to be that many opportunities for Moraga alone to occupy a poet laureate.

The council meeting will Jim Donahue, president of Saint make a final decision most likely at a June meeting. In the proposed text, the mayor could have the power to appoint the poet without a vote of the council.
